

Globalisation and Political Participation of Women: An Analysis

Malkit Singh

HOD, Department of Human Rights
DAV College for Girls, Yamuna Nagar, Haryana, India.

CITATION: Singh, Malkit (2017), "Globalisation and Political Participation of Women: An Analysis", MERC Global's International Journal of Social Science & Management, Vol. 4, Issue 4, pp. 99-104.

ARTICLE HISTORY: Submitted: July 29, 2017, Revision received: August 25, 2017, Accepted: September 06, 2017

ARTICLE TYPE: Review paper

ABSTRACT

A debate over the political participation and the political rights of women is as old as the political thought the inception of the modernisation and democracy. Women networking over the political rights and participation have been started during the colonialism and historical archives show that the educated women of the colonies were supported by the western women groups on the demand of political rights from the colonial powers. The second phase of women movement was started with the de-colonialisation and with the establishment of UNO and was furthered by international institutions and international women conferences and declarations. The most vibrant movement and demand for the equal participation of women across the globe have begun with the advent of globalisation. In this paper, an attempt is made analysis the demand and women movement for equal political participation by linking it with the ever increased network of the women groups in the free informative and tele-communicative world. An in-depth analysis of the influences of international declarations, recommendation and the passage of the women quota for political participation of women in some countries is done along with comparative and analytical perspective.

KEYWORDS: Globalisation, Politics, Participation, Political rights, Women.

REFERENCES

1. 1985 WCW in Nairobi - 5WWC, available at: www.5wwc.org/conference\_background/1985\_WCW.html, Accessed: 18-4-2015.
2. Chawla, Monica (2006), Women and Protective Laws, Regal Publications, New Delhi, pp. 4.
3. Chen, Li-Ju (2010), "Do Gender Quotas Influence Women's Representation and Policies?", The European Journal of Comparative Economics, Vol. VII, No. 1, pp. 13.
4. Childs, Sarah and Krook, Mona Leena "Critical Mass Theory and Women's Representation", Political Studies, Vol. XXXXXVI, No. 32, 2006, pp. 728.
5. Emilie, Hafner Burton and Mark, A. Pollack (2000), Mainstreaming Gender in Global Governance, University of Wisconsin, Madison, pp. 278-289.
6. Fadia, Kuldeep (2014), "Women's Empowerment Through Political Participation in India", Indian Journal of Public Administration, Vol. LX, No. 3, July to September, pp. 537-538.
7. Franceschet Susan (2012), "Conceptualising the Impact of Gender Quotas", Susan Franceschet & et.al (eds), The Impact of Gender Quotas, Oxford University Press, New York, pp. 3-7.
8. Gupta, V. S. (2009), "Nation Building and Empowerment of Women", Employment News, 11-17 August, pp. 8.
9. Ibid, pp. 24, 77, 729-732.
10. Kanter, R. M. (1977), "Some Effects of Proportion on Group Life: Skewed Sex Ratio and Response to Token Women", American Journal of Sociology, Vol. XXXXXXXXXII, No. 5, pp. 965-990.
11. Mary, K. Meyer and Elisabeth, Prugl (1999), Gender Politics in Global Governance, MD Rowman & Littlefield, Lanham, pp. 88-104.
12. Panda, Rohini and Ford, Deanna (2011), Gender Quotas and Female leadership: A Review, Background Paper for the World Development Report on Gender Cambridge Massachusetts, Harvard University, Harvard, 2011, p.1-42.

13. Shaheed, F. (1997), "Women, State and Power: The Dynamics of Variation and Convergence across East and West", N. Hussain & et.al, (eds.), Engendering the Nation-State, Simorgh Publications, Lahore, pp. 382-387.
14. Sinha, Niroj (2000), Women in Indian Politics, Empowerment of Women Through Political Participation, Gyan Publishing House, New Delhi, pp. 17-18.
15. Srivastva, Rashmi (2009), "Empowerment of Women Through Political Participation: With Special Reference to Madhya Pradesh", Niroj Sinha (ed), Women in Indian Politics, Anmol Publications, New Delhi, pp. 206.
16. Subhas, C. Pardia and Nayak, Samita (2009), Empowerment of Women India, Northern Book Centre, Delhi, pp. 192-196.
17. Suchinmayee, Rachna (2008), Human Rights and Environment, Atlantic Publication, New Delhi, pp. 302-305.
18. United Nations (2014), "Beijing +5 Political Declaration and Outcome", Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action, UN Women, New York, pp. 127.
19. United Nations (2014), "Goal 3 Promote Gender Equality and Empower Women", The Millennium Development Goals Report 2014, UNDP, New York, pp. 23.
20. United Nations (2014), "Making the Century for Women and Gender", Strategic Plan 2014-2017, UN Women, New York, pp. 5.
21. United Nations (2014), "Women's Political Participation Continues to Increase, But Glass Ceilings Remain", Gender Dimensions of Millennium Development Goals Report 2013, UNDP, New York, pp. 23.
22. United Nations, n. 9, pp.11-12.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR (S)

Dr. Malkit Singh is Head of the Department, at Department of Human Rights, DAV College for Girls, Yamuna Nagar, Haryana, India. He is a corresponding author and can be reached at malkitsaran@gmail.com.